SPECULATION DEVOTED CHIEFLY TO SPECIALTIES.

CHANGES OF DAY ALMOST INSIGNIFICANT.

Waiting Attitude Due to Desire to Read Government Report on Crop Conditions.

New York, Aug. 10.-Speculation in clocks was devoted to what are known as the specialties. The constant whipping up of excitement and activity in one or another of these afforded the principal sus-taining influence on the general list. That this influence was not notably effective is disclosed by the list of changes for the day, which were comparatively insignificant.

The waiting attitude of the market was undoubtedly due to the desire to read the monthly report of the Agricultural Department on the August conditions of the grain creps, and especially of spring wheat, before venturing on extensive commitments in stocks. The incidental speculation in the specialties was apparently designed as a diversion for what promised to be a dull period, for the time for publication of the crop report being 4 o'clock, there would be no chance for operating in to-day's market on the basis of its information.

GRAIN MARKETS.

GRAIN MARKETS.

The grain markets also reflected the importance attached to the Government report in the nervousness exhibited by speculators committed in that market and their desire to lighten their contracts before the report appeared. The realizing, which carried back the prices of wheat, was largely attributed to this purpose, although the weather in the spring-wheat country was considered better. Stocks derived some firmness from this view.

There was a continued belief in the difficulty expected in the steel trade over the maintenance of association prices, as was shown by the persistence with which United States Steel preferred hung below last night's price in face of the firmness of other stocks.

Good advances were made by Southwestern railroad stocks, which were fairly attributable to the comparative prosperity of the ootton and corn crops as compared with wheat. The rise in Southern Pacific was impressive to sentiment, because accepted as showing the protective policy toward the market of its controllers.

GOLD MOVEMENT.

GOLD MOVEMENT.

The conviction became firmer that gold would be exported to England this week, as sterling exchange continued to advance and the London market railied on the

and the London market railled on the same assurance.

But the real interest of the day centered in the furious speculation in the specialties. The sensational advance in the Metropolitan stocks was accompanied by much-published quotations from influential, but unnamed, individuals, who were impressive in their admissions that important transactions were impending, but entirely reticent as to specific information of what the developments would be. This is the kind of movement that appeals with especial force to the speculative imaximation, and the trading element threw themselves into the movement with great relish.

The day's movements in Sugar and amalgamated Copper are equally mysterious as to their basis. These advances were not fully held at the close, and the whole market underwent some reaction, but at the closing was active and firm.

Bonds were firm. Total sales, par value, $2,50,000. United Statos bonds were unchanged on call.

BULLISH ENTHUSIASM. SUMMARY OF ST. LOUIS MARKETS

Wheat was weak during the greater part of yesterday's session. The Sept. option railed toward the close, but Lee, and May worked lower. One of the most depressing factors was the weakness of Minneapolis, which had been a leader throughout the recent advance. A studien let-down there was taken as an indication that the damage by rust in the Northwest was not regional as had been reported. Weak foreign markets and heavy receipts also tended to chake the faith of outside operators who had been taking damage reports at their face value. Comparative strength in Chicago caused a raily efter the early recressions, but buying by professionals did not have much effect in attracting buying orders from the amateur contingent. Toward room the market goodmily eased off on increased selling and the taking of profits on the advance. Later there was a raily which carried the price of the Sept. option to the paylous day's closing figure. This lets buying was mainly it anticipation of the Government crop report, which was one to be posted in the attention.
